The presence of the federal ban on sports betting, PASPA, made any legalization at the state level a performative measure, rather than an efficacious one. However, once New Jersey's attorney concluded their oral arguments in front of the US Supreme Court in December 2017, it seemed as though the wind might be blowing in a different direction.

A similar effort the following year, HB1132, did not even progress as far as it s predecessor.

Lawmakers finally found some traction in 2020.

A Senate effort, SB4, passed by unanimous vote in the upper chamber.

Legislators then passed the aforementioned HB0940 as an enabling measure in May

Retail sportsbooks across the state began accepting wagers in December 2021. In case you want a more concise description, here are the milestones that Maryla
