Minnesota sports betting updates
The more regulators and casino operators discuss the topic, the more it seems that legal Minnesota sports betting will become a reality soon.

Zack Stephenson notes during a hearing - in which his bill, HF 2000, advances to the Public Safety and Finance Committee - that a revenue estimate from 2022 reported that a mature Minnesota sports betting market could result in roughly $12 million in taxes per year.

May 23, 2022: Minnesota's House of Representatives and Senate adjourn for 2022 without passing a bill to legalize sports betting.

The bill now heads to the Minnesota Tax Committee.

March 8, 2022: Minnesota lawmakers put forth new legislation (House File 778) in an effort to legalize sports betting.
