Having debuted in 1999, the Dior Saddle bag takes its cues from the equestrian world.

The inspiration can be seen in the graphic design with the now iconic asymmetrical flap that is reminiscent of a saddle shape.

Its magnetic "D" is influenced by stirrup clasps, while the signature "CD" on each side makes the design distinctively Dior.

Throughout the seasons, the Creative Director looked at the Dior Saddle bag as a blank canvas, which gave free reign to her endless reservoir of imagination and creativity.

Each bag can be made even more unique with different "Christian Dior" embroidered shoulder straps, which the House offers separately.
