Free Guide & Checklist: How To Respond To Reviews

Reviews appear alongside your company's business listing in the top left results on Google Maps and in Google search results, which is the first impression for many people searching for you. Not only that, Google star ratings impact local search engine results and rankings.

Spam or fake reviews

Google cautions that business owners only flag reviews that directly violate Google's review policy and not simply flag reviews because they don't agree with or like what's being said.

Click the "Reviews" tab to see and respond to your Google reviews.

Google understands that some fraudulent reviews may not be automatically flagged by the company's spam detection filters.

Fake reviews and content with a conflict of interest

Obscene, explicit content
