In the United States, a penny is an interesting concept.

In fact, there are advocates of eliminating the penny and making the nickel the lowest denomination available.

Heck, that's the American way.

If you're the manager in that situation, and you have a game that costs a penny to play per spin taking up the same amount of space as a game that costs a dollar to play per spin, how do you make up for the big difference in stakes?

An average slot machine player makes 600 spins per hour.

So if you're playing a penny game with a 75% payout rate, you'll get $4

. Use a reasonable assumption about the payout percentage for the games.

Some of this information is good, but a lot of it is just hokum.

Internet gambling can provide hassle-free sign-ups, super-quick banking and a choice of games that you won't find in a live setting.
